

Reversible Contrast Enhancement Layer for 193 nm Double Exposure

G. Cooper, Pixelligent Technologies

Pixelligent's proprietary technology employs the unique optical properties of semiconductor nanocrystals to produce a reversible contrast enhancement layer (Arsel). R-CEL behaves as a saturable absorber and can reduce the cost of double exposure to the acceptable level. This technology will be reviewed in this presentation.